

The week has been filled with the gaiety that comes from formal parties—such as that is. There have been enough of the handshaking kind where the decorations and the good clothes were the features to have lasted all summer, but the events for real fun have not been lacking. There was one merry party who literally bapised one of the new resorts with some flowing bowls one night and no one was the wiser. The two fair ones from out of town formed the reason for the gathering, but no excuse was needed.

There will be many a gay time at the "Bilby" Kisers home on Thirteenth East street this summer. If the two fair guests who come Wednesday are really related to the family, the visitors who will bring in the glorious Fourth are Miss Lyette and Miss Nan Lyette, cousins of the hosts. They will probably enliven Salt Lake with their presence for the next six weeks, a part of which will be spent in short trips around the country.

The glorious Fourth will be observed at the country club in the style. The celebration will begin early in the day with a handicap golf contest for the men. A buffet luncheon will be served during the middle of the day and a buffet supper in the evening. A big dance to which the members may each bring one guest will take place in the evening, the music for this being furnished by the Fort Douglas band.

Another party of the devout ones will undertake a pilgrimage again today, the point of destination being the Hermitage in Ogden canyon. With the good monk "Bilby" Wilson who worships there they will spend the day in meditation—and other things.

They say that music has power. It seems to have, judging by the recent talent displays at one of the young hopefuls. It has always had a staying quality, but who'd have thought it could hold a man up in that way?

A party of girls spent out in an auto during the week for a stay of a few days in the country, and the people round about say that the wild roses plushed a deeper hue from pure envy as the bunch went by.

CURRENT EVENTS IN LOCAL SOCIETY CIRCLES

Miss Edith Shearman and Mrs. J. R. Folsom entertained about fifty of their friends yesterday afternoon at a tea in honor of Mrs. John Longmaid. The affair was entirely informal and a number of vocal selections were rendered during the afternoon by Mrs. Harry David Gue, Miss Eloise Sadler and Harry Shearman. The Shearman home on East Second South street was bright with flowers, yellow being used in the dining-room, where Miss Kinball and Miss Ida Hanauer presided. They were assisted in serving by Miss Dorothy Rookledge, Miss Gwendoline Tripp and Miss Helena Longmaid.

Dr. Hugh Sprague will entertain a party of about forty of the younger set at the buffet supper this evening at Idelwild, the country home of his sister, Mrs. A. E. Walker. The party will meet at the University club and the trip will be made by automobile, horseback and a big tally-ho. The party will leave town about 5 o'clock. The entire place will be in possession of the guests, including the Cheesman home, the Ray Walker home and Idelwild. Mrs. Walker will be assisted in entertaining the guests by Miss Beatrice Cheesman, Miss Alice Miller, Mrs. Ray Walker and Mrs. Percy Sadler.

Mrs. Edwin F. Holmes and Mrs. Jay T. Harris entertained yesterday at a luncheon in honor of Mrs. Charles Shields of Park City. Their guests were mostly the old friends who had lived in Park City. The decorations were all in roses and those present to meet Mrs. Shields were Mrs. J. W. White, Mrs. C. H. Brink of Denver, Mrs. Joseph Young, Mrs. W. W. Armstrong, Mrs. W. I. Snyder, Mrs. F. S. Fox and Mrs. Walter Scott.

D. A. Kleiy of St. Mary's cathedral, was witnessed by only the closest relatives and friends who were entertained at a supper following, and later a large reception was given to which more than 100 friends were invited. The music for the service was furnished by a quartette of friends, Miss Edna Evans, T. E. Harper, John James and Mrs. Grace Radcliffe Young.

At the reception which followed, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Raybould were assisted in receiving their guests by Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Raybould and Mrs. Alice Parker. Mrs. A. W. Raybould presided in the dining-room and she was assisted by Miss Ruby Koerber and Mrs. C. A. Woods. Miss Daisy Raybould and Miss Jessie Herper served punch in the library.

The bride was attended by Miss Amelia Woods and Charles H. Raybould was the best man. The gown worn by the bride was of white silk trimmed with lace and applique. She carried a large shower of bride's roses. The home was bright with the season's roses, white and green being used in the parlors where the bridal party stood and pink roses filling all the spaces in the dining-room. Red brightened the library where the punch was served and ropes of smilax and plumosa were festooned over everything. Mr. and Mrs. Raybould left that evening for a trip to the north-west, where they will spend some weeks. Later they will make their home at 627 Third East street.
